++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Drier for most, with less frequent showers than recently.

Today:

A cloudy start with the odd shower, then cloud gradually lifts to allow for some afternoon sunny spells. Scattered showers remain possible, especially for western areas, but these lighter and less frequent than recently. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:

Largely dry through the evening, with cloud building ahead of a band of more organised rain that moves across the region from the southwest overnight, heavy in places. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:

A cloudy morning with rain persisting across the region. Into the afternoon, this cloud and rain will largely break up into more widespread sunny spells and showers, heavy at times. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:

Remaining unsettled throughout the period, with sunny spells and showers. Sunday and Monday seeing the heaviest of these, with a risk of thunder. Tuesday seeing lighter and less frequent showers.
